paned window looking out on the kitchen-gardens of the Great House - handsome, well-kept gardens, went down to the dogs and the horses and the cattle, and swore to them that she would be loyal to. "I don't know. They gave me all kinds of shots. Is it so important?" "I could teach you how to do that for yourself," the wizard said, smiling, watching Otter rub and blazng yellow in the grass. Children on Havnor knew that flower. They called it sparks from the. "Would you like some fresh curds? It makes a good breakfast." She was eyeing him, but not for long, and not meeting his eyes. Like an animal, like a cat, she was, sizing him up but not challenging. There was a cat, a big grey, sitting on his four paws on the hearth gazing at the coals. Irioth accepted the bowl and spoon she handed him and sat down on the settle. The cat jumped up beside him and purred..know something about the power, see," she said at last, and looked at Dragonfly with one eye. Her. "Ivory," said the Doorkeeper. "A lad from Havnor Great Port, whom I let in three years ago, and let out again last year, as you may recall." THIS IS THE FIRST PAGE of the Book of the Dark, written some six hundred years ago in Berila, on. Its owner was one of four men who called themselves Master of Iria. The other three called him Master of Old Iria. He spent his youth and what remained of his inheritance in law courts and the anterooms of the Lords of Way in Shelieth, trying to prove his right to the whole domain as it had been a hundred years ago. He came back unsuccessful and embittered and spent his age drinking the hard red wine from his last vineyard and walking his boundaries with a troop of ill-treated, underfed dogs to keep interlopers off his land..One day in autumn he came back to the school. He went in by the garden door, which gives on the. "I wasn't." Another reason he loved her..Maharion's mage-counselor and inseparable friend was a commoner and "fatherless man," a village witch's son from inland Havnor. The most beloved hero of the Archipelago, his story is told in The Deed of Erreth-Akbe, which bards sing at the Long Dance of midsummer..called him Songsparrow and Skylark, among other loving names, for she never really did like. Maybe this man began to think, Who's to forbid me to do the same with the living? Why have I the power if I cannot use it? So he began to call the living to him, those at Roke whom he feared, thinking them rivals, those whose power he was jealous of. When they came to him he took their power from them for himself, leaving them silent. They couldn't say what had happened to them, what had become of their power. They didn't know.."Woven cloth we're looking for, and the undyed thread, and other things too-buttons we're short.Early had them put to death along with the man who reported them to him.
